Prepare to

It has been said that one of chamber music's greatest assets is its intimacy.

Sit close to the musicians and hear their absolute excellent artistic quality, and watch as they communicate with each other by eye contact ... without the direction of a conductor. Every musician is of the highest caliber and plays a unique and singular part, and every audience member knows how much energy and attention is being devoted by each musician. Nothing is hidden from the audience—it's a very naked and personal experience.

Midsummer's concerts are high-impact, with great energy, emotion, virtuosity and intensity. They are exciting, pulse-pounding, riveting performances, where you will discover new repertoire, meet new friends, and learn about unfamiliar composers from our amazingly knowledgeable and personable Artistic Director and Assistant Artistic Director. Prepare to be on the edge of your seat!

The unique settings — including galleries, churches, museums and private homes — mean that you can clearly hear the spoken comments, be near the musicians, and mingle with a glass of wine during receptions. Surrounded by water, woods, art and more, you'll experience incredible music and the wonders of nature in the heart of Door County's most beautiful spots.

The mixture of instruments goes beyond the typical strings to include horns, other winds and piano. Our comprehensive programming unites innovative themes, colorful compositions and interesting arrangements that can be varied for the specific venue.

We're friendly and fun! Inclusive, not exclusive! We've shattered the mold of chamber music's traditionally stuffy, dull, elitist reputation. You'll be warmly greeted with smiles and enjoy camaraderie among other concertgoers and the musicians.

In short, we create not just a performance, but an experience ... one that is radically appealing. It's not unusual for someone to say to us, "You have completely changed my perception of chamber music," or "I honestly did not expect for this to be so interesting and so much fun!"

Concert tickets are available to purchase individually, in subscriptions of four or eight performances, and in a flex-pack of six tickets. Use the order form on this brochure, buy tickets at MidsummersMusic.com, or call us at (920) 854-7088.
